Muran (Contrast/Contradict)

Muran is a Tamil display typeface created in two weeks during the Letter Design course. It features striking contrasts, with a dynamic interplay between thick and thin strokes, and a unique combination of sharp edges and rounded corners, hence the name. The strokes often start with rounded edges and transition into sharp endings, moving in different directions to create a rhythmic flow and energy. This typeface seeks to introduce structure to the inherent curvy Tamil letterform with its geometric design.

Muran is designed to make bold visual statements, making it ideal for headlines, posters, editorial designs and other display applications ensuring it stands out with its balance of precision and playfulness.
